

Big Prizes= HAPPY PLAYERS

2 versions available, a $10 and a $5 game

$10 payout = $3300 in prizes for customers

1st QTR $650, 2nd QTR $750, 3rd QTR $900, Final Score $1000

Your organization could make $620 profit per game Tax Exempt

- Plays like a normal everyday pulltab except the football/basketball score predicts the winners.
- Tickets can be sold throughout the game all the way up to the end. When the football/basketball game has ended ticket sales must stop.
- Validation is not required with this game. No marking player spots on the flare, no signatures or voids necessary. This game has no seals or scratch offs, so customers know their numbers immediately. You sell the ticket, wait for the football/basketball game to play out and then pay the 4 winners when the tickets are presented. It's that simple!
- Players retain purchased tickets and can remove them from the premise.
- Keep the flare posted or post the winning numbers with serial number for 7 days after the completion of the football/basketball game or until all winning numbers have been awarded. If there are unsold tickets treat them as you would a pulltab game when you close it.
- If (1) ticket is sold for the game, the charity must proceed with game. Put this game out for sale in advance of the Pro sports event since the idea is to sell all the tickets. If there are any unsold tickets at the end of the football/basketball game the charity would own them and if those were the numbers that won, they would be considered unclaimed prizes and the money would stay with the charity.

NOTE:

This game has 392 tickets but has 400 chances. The manufacturer could not print 400 tickets so the way around it was to design 8 bonus tickets where a player gets 2 sets of numbers on one ticket. You will see this on the 4th quarter tickets, there are 8 bonus tickets that will have 2 sets of numbers. 392 tickets + extra 8 bonus tickets = 400 chances.
